OFFICE OF INDIGENOUS POLICY
DEPARTMENT OF THE CHIEF MINISTER

Ms Vicki Scott

I have worked with Vicki on a number of projects dating back to 1991. More recently these projects included the 1997 Australian Reconciliation Convention held in Melbourne, Corroboree 2000 held at the Sydney Opera House (involving a people's walk across the Sydney Harbour Bridge) and the Reconciliation Workshop held at Old Parliament House in Canberra in early 2005.

Vicki has exceptional human relations skills and a capacity for sheer hard work in making things happen. This means she has the ability to work with and effectively relate at all levels with individuals and organisations, not only from the private and public sectors, but with Australians from all walks of life. These skills were critical to the tremendous success of the events cited above and were roundly acknowledged by all those intimately involved in those project's organisation and delivery.

Vicki also has highly developed strategic and policy skills which are essential in undertaking effective planning and problem solving and is not afraid to 'call it as it is'.

Her proven capacity to effectively identify and work with key power brokers in identifying key synergies and common interests is one of her greatest strengths. Combined with a preparedness to get across the necessary detail without losing sight of the key objectives, she brings a unique set of skills and an enviable track record of proven achievement to any task.
